IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT

Manuscript System Change for JBC
Live Launch for All Submissions – September 26, 2017

We are excited to announce that JBC has moved to a new submission system, eJournalPress, as of September 26, 2017. We appreciate your patience and cooperation during this very important transition.

Some important points to keep in mind:

- JBC will function on two systems in tandem for a few months.
- The old URL for the submission site (http://submit.jbc.org) will redirect to the new system’s URL, which is https://jbconline.msubmit.net.
- The old system may be accessed from this URL going forward: http://bp.jbc.org/
- Authors/Reviewers will continue to use the old (BenchPress) system for all manuscripts that were submitted prior to the shut-down on September 21. This includes revised manuscripts, which should still be submitted through the old system.
- Authors/Reviewers will use the new (eJournalPress) system for all NEW and RESUBMITTED manuscripts beginning September 26.
- Reviewers MUST follow the instructions in the email notification for each assignment. The instructions for each assignment will take you to the right system for the paper assigned.

If you already have an existing profile in our current (BenchPress) system, you may use the email address associated with that account to log into the new (eJournalPress) system for the first time by using the “Forgot your password?” link on the login screen: https://jbconline.msubmit.net. You can also log in using an ORCID iD.

Please contact jbc@asbmb.org with any questions.
